To Whom It May Concern,

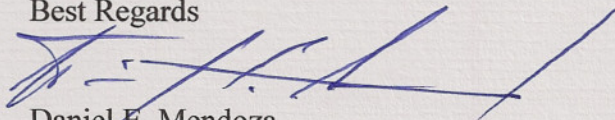

I consider offering personal recommendations extremely serious and I'm very cautious in doing so, however it's a much easier decision to make when I'm referring to proven professionals and a proven organization.

Therefore I don't hesitate in offering my professional recommendation to the team of TriCounty Building Maintenance Services for which I've personally had excellent working experiences on several complicated and demanding multimillion dollar high-rise condominium projects over the last several years .

I've witnessed the dedication, knowledge and commitment by Jon Colton the principal in charge over the years in growing this firm as one of the pinnacle performers in his field. His personal dedication and cooperative efforts towards working as a team is reflected in every member of his conscientious and professional staff, a sign of true leadership and team commitment which has been an asset to the successful completion of the projects we've been involved in.

Not only has the performance factor been a great attribute but the latest technology they offered assisted us in cost effectively resolving some extremely difficult issues and circumstances. Issues that may have broken budgets and caused significant hardship to all parties involved. I guess I can sum up my opinion of TriCounty Building Services as Advanced Performers with Advanced Technology and most important an asset to any TEAM their involved with.

Best Regards
